

SCOTT-OBREGON PLAN ACCEPTABLE

Scott Is Notified To Exchange Official Acceptances With Obregon

TEXT OF PLAN WITHHELD

Plan Provides Basis for Co-operation Which Promises to Prevent Misunderstanding

CALLS FOR ACTIVE CAMPAIGN

WASHINGTON, May 4.—President Wilson announced tonight that the tentative agreement between General Scott and General Obregon covering the future operations of the American and Mexican military forces in Mexico provides a "basis for co-operation which promises to prevent misunderstandings and strengthens the cordial relations of the two republics."

Notify General Scott.

Also there was no formal announcement of the action notification that the Scott-Obregon agreement is acceptable to the American government was telegraphed to General Scott at El Paso late today by Secretary Baker. General Scott is authorized to exchange official acceptances with General Obregon as soon as the latter has obtained the approval of General Carranza and officials here are confident that it will be tomorrow or Saturday.

President Wilson issued this statement:

"I have examined with the secretary of war, the report made by General Hugh L. Scott of the conference between him and General Obregon, secretary of war of the republic of Mexico.

"The report includes a tentative agreement covering the future operations of both the American and Mexican military forces and evidences cordial co-operation between the two governments in their common purpose.

"As this agreement is being submitted to the de facto government of Mexico it would not be proper for me to permit its publication until that government has an opportunity to examine and consider its phases. In general I may say that it provides a basis of co-operation which promises to prevent misunderstanding and strengthens the cordial relations of the two republics."

Secretary Baker carried to the white house today General Scott's long report of his meetings with General Obregon at which the agreement was worked out. Later he also informed Secretary Lansing of the plan. Instructions to General Scott, authorizing him to hold a final conference with General Obregon and close up the matter there were forwarded.

Calls for Active Campaign.

It is expected President Wilson will issue a formal statement regarding the agreement as soon as word comes that General Carranza had approved it. No official outline of the plan was available tonight, but it was understood it calls for an active campaign by Carranza troops against bandits in the region south of the present lines of the American expedition and for the withdrawal of the American forces to the border as the ability of the Mexican troops to police the country adequately is demonstrated.

Use of the Mexican railways in keeping the American expedition supplied also is provided and in return the expeditionary forces are pledged to exercise every possible precaution to avoid clashes with the townspeople in the regions in which they continue to act. The limitations of the expedition under the agreement have not been disclosed. It is understood however, that it will hold the present lines for the time being and not proceed to the south in any event. The best information at the war department as to the present location of the American forces shows that General Pershing is at Namiquipa but that patrols are at work to the south of that place pursuing scattered bands of outlaws. General Pershing's reports have indicated that the great majority of his command was inactive pending the outcome of the El Paso conference.

Pending the demonstration by the Carranza forces of their intention and power to clear the whole border region of brigands it is understood that no move toward drawing any of the troops now on the border will be made. With the expedition well established in Mexico as a buffer against bandit raids on border towns and ranches under local guard as well it is believed that there can be no recurrence of border raids even if the Carranza troops are not able immediately to capture or kill Villa and his followers. No chances will be taken however and

SENATE PASSES HOLLIS FARM LOAN MEASURE

BILL IS ADOPTED PRACTICALLY AS REPORTED BY COMMITTEE

Embodies Administration Plan for Establishing a System of Rural Credits—Five Republicans Vote Against Measure.

Washington, May 4.—The Hollis farm loan bill embodying the administration plan for establishing a system of rural credits passed the senate tonight by a vote of 58 to 5. Senators Brandegee, Lodge, Oliver, Page and Wadsworth, all Republicans, voted against the measure.

The bill after almost two weeks of debate, passed the senate practically as reported by the banking committee. An amendment by Senator Smoot reducing the salaries of the farm loan board from $10,000 to $7,500, which was adopted by a vote of 26 to 25 in the committee of the whole was reconsidered when the bill reached the senate and was defeated 29 to 31, although eight Democratic senators voted with the Republicans for the reduction.

A somewhat similar bill has been reported by the house banking committee and it is said will be brought up for consideration in the house soon. Like the senate measure it would create a chain of farm loan banks, but it differs in means of operation. The senate bill provides for a non-partisan loan board to consist of the secretary of the treasury and four others, having general control of a farm loan system of twelve or more land banks and of farm loan associations thru which loans actually would be made. Each land bank would have a capital stock of at least $500,000 to be subscribed by the government if not taken by the public. The farm loan associations would be co-operative, made up of ten or more farmers who would obtain a charter from their district land bank. A farmer desiring to borrow money would be required to take stock in the loan association equal to five percent of his loan. The association in turn would take an equal amount of stock in the land bank, which would appraise the security offered and make the loan thru the association. On mortgages amounting to $50,000 a bank might issue a like amount of farm loan bonds, which would be secured by all twelve land banks. All profits would go to the loan associations in dividends and thus to the borrowers who are shareholders in them. Loans might be on as long terms as thirty six years and on the amortization plan so that with each interest payment the farmer could pay a small amount of the principal. Loans would be limited to first mortgages and could not exceed fifty percent of the appraised value of the land.

The principal fight on the bill was directed at the sections exempting the banks and their mortgages from taxation and permitting employees to be chosen without regard to the civil service. Both were defeated by party votes. Debate lasted more than a week on an amendment by Senator Cummins to strike out the exemption clause which was attacked as unconstitutional but defended by Democratic senators as necessary to evade the irregularities in state taxation and insure a uniform rate of interest to the farmers in the various states.

DECLINES TO GIVE DUNNE ASSURANCES.

Springfield, Ill., May 4.—Sheriff James White of Jackson county has declined for the sixth time to give Governor Dunne the assurances he asked that Elston Scott, negro murderer, would be hanged decently at Murphysboro. William Sullivan, executive secretary, said today that Scott would be reprieved again for two months. The last reprieve expires May 12.

the double guard will be maintained until definite information is available to show that the bandit menace is at an end.

To Hold Final Conference.

El Paso, Texas, May 4.—The third and final conference of Generals Scott and Obregon at which the complete details of the agreement for military co-operation in the hunt of Villa bandits will be settled, probably will be held tomorrow morning at the immigration station located at the American end of the International bridge. This was announced tonight as the reply of the secretary of war to General Scott's report on the last conference with General Obregon was received.

As General Obregon has plenary powers he will be able to make any arrangements to satisfy the wishes of the Washington government as to the exact form the agreement will take. He was in touch with General Carranza today and is said to have found his action in entire accord with the ideas of the first chief.

Juan M. Amador, Mexican sub-secretary of foreign relations, came to Juarez today after a hurried trip from Mexico City. He will advise with General Obregon on some details of the final negotiations.

General Trevino received a report that Villa bandits under Juan Robles last night attempted to cut the railway tracks between Jiminez and Escalon, but were frustrated and routed by Carranza forces under General Ignacio Romas.

AWAIT REPLY WITH EXPECTANT TENSION

German Answer to U. S. Demand Is Delivered to Gerard

RECEIVE BRIEF MESSAGE

Impression Is Created That Conditions U. S. Cannot Accept Will Be Proposed

EXPECT OFFICIAL TEXT TODAY

BULLETIN

BERLIN, May 4.—via London, May 5.—James W. Gerard, the American ambassador called on Herr Von Jagow, the German foreign minister at 5:35 o'clock this afternoon, new German time, and after ten minutes of an informal conversation was handed the German note to the United States.

No reference was made to the note during the ambassador's talk with the foreign minister. There was hardly more than the usual afternoon crowd in Wilhelm Platz who saw the ambassador go and return. Nobody evinced the slightest interest in the visit although the trip had been announced in the afternoon papers.

WASHINGTON, May 4.—Germany's reply to the demand of the United States for immediate abandonment of present methods of submarine warfare, delivered to Ambassador Gerard today, was awaited by officials of the Washington government tonight with expectant tension. They were without any definite idea of what the communication contained. A brief message from Ambassador Gerard as well as press reports, however, have created the impression that the imperial government would propose conditions which the United States could not accept.

It was reiterated that President Wilson stood unalterably behind the position declared in the note to Germany—that the abandonment of present submarine methods must be declared and effected immediately or the United States must sever diplomatic relations. This demand was designed to permit of no argument, and high officials repeatedly have asserted that anything short of a literal compliance would be followed by a diplomatic rupture. The official copy of the note hardly will reach Washington before tomorrow night, but the document was given to the press in Berlin late tonight and the official text was expected to reach the United States early tomorrow morning.

Meaning Not Entirely Clear.

Ambassador Gerard's message was sent before he had examined the note itself. Its meaning was not entirely clear because of errors in transmission of the diplomatic cipher.

Secretary Lansing declined to comment on the message or make it public. He sent the dispatch to the white house for the information of the president.

Officials gave especial consideration to press dispatches saying that the German chancellor would have the German public behind him in efforts to avoid a breach of relations with the United States so far as can be done without sacrificing the principles enunciated in the German manifesto of Feb. 8.

President Wilson and Secretary Lansing prepared to remain up late tonight to see the unofficial text of the reply carried in press dispatches, but abandoned the idea when it became known that the dispatches would not be available before morning. A special corps of operators was kept on duty at the state department to receive the official text, but at midnight word had not come from Ambassador Gerard that he was ready to start the document.

People Behind Chancellor.

Berlin, May 4.—By wireless to The Associated Press via Tuckerton, N. J.—The reply to the American note on submarine warfare is believed to have been handed to Ambassador Gerard this afternoon. Considerable perturbation is expressed over the effect which concessions may have on public opinion here.

Dr. Von Bethmann-Hollweg, the imperial chancellor, undoubtedly will have the great mass of the people with him in a desire to avoid a breach in the diplomatic relations with the United States so far as can be done without sacrificing the principle enunciated in the German manifesto of Feb. 8.

The German memorandum of Feb. 3, referred to in the foregoing dispatch, was addressed to neutral nations and declared that after Feb. 29 Germany would consider all armed merchantmen belonging to countries at war with Germany as war ships and that such vessels would be treated accordingly and sunk without warning.

It charged that before the out-

War News Summarized

Germany's reply to the demand of the United States that she cease immediately her present method of submarine warfare is expected within a few hours to be in the hands of President Wilson. The American ambassador at Berlin went to the German foreign office to receive the note from the foreign minister late on Thursday afternoon. Nothing is known as to the tenor of the reply—whether it will acquiesce in full to the president's demand or merely offer concessions. Washington dispatches have indicated that unless full acquiescence is given a severance of diplomatic relations with Germany will follow.

The German legation at Rio Janeiro has been informed by the Brazilian government that it has ordered an urgent inquiry into the sinking of the Brazilian Steamer Rio Branco, that Brazil may act with certainty in defense of its neutral rights.

Sink French Fishing Schooner.

Meanwhile another vessel has been sent to the bottom by a German submarine, according to a French official statement. The statement says the French Fishing Schooner Bernadette has been sunk by an underwater boat 150 miles from land in the Atlantic. Eight of the crew were picked up, but twenty six others of the ship's company are reported to be still afloat.

The curtain of fire of the French has set at naught another German attack launched against trenches which the French recently captured at Le Mort Homme. This engagement, which is characterized by Paris as a small one has been the only fighting by infantry on the French and Belgian fronts. The big guns however have not ceased their activity on various sectors. A violent bombardment is reported in the region of Hill 204, northwest of Verdun. The Germans are still throwing shells in great numbers against the eastern front. There also have been artillery duels between the Germans and Russians in the region south of Krevo.

The usual bombardments and isolated infantry attacks are in progress along the Austro-Italian front. The Turks started two offensive movements against the Russians one in the region of Baiburt and the other near Erzingan. Both were repulsed according to Petrograd. The German General Lyman Von Sanders is superintending the concentration of Turkish troops in North Smyrna and defense measures for Turkey's Asiatic coast.

REPORT AMERICAN GOVERNMENT RENEWS NEGOTIATIONS FOR ISLANDS

WASHINGTON, May 4.—Several visits of Constantin Brun, the Danish minister to the state department for extended conferences with Secretary Lansing, the latest being this afternoon, have given color to a report in circulation for some time that the American government has renewed the negotiations that have been conducted at long intervals for the last 25 years looking to the cessation of the Danish West Indian Islands, St. Thomas, St. Croix and St. John, to the United States.

Secretary Lansing and Minister Brun refuse to discuss the subject but it is recognized that such an attitude would of necessity be observed in initial stages of any negotiations of this kind.

REVIEWS WORK OF BUENOS AIRES MEETING

SECRETARY OF TREASURY RETURNS FROM SOUTH AMERICA

Declares Leading South American Statesmen Agree With Him That Quick Development of American Merchant Marine and Completion of Pan-American Railway are Important.

Washington, May 4.—Secretary McAdoo, back from the Buenos Aires meeting of the international finance commission, declared in a statement tonight that leading South American statesmen agreed with him that quick development of merchant marine under the American flag and completion of a Pan-American railway are the most important factors to be considered in plans for closer unity and among American nations.

The secretary and the other members of the United States section of the commission reached Hampton Roads on the Cruiser Tennessee early today and immediately came to the capital.

Mr. McAdoo as head of the section, reviewed the work of the Buenos Aires meeting at length and announced that in all the countries he visited on the way back from Argentina he found a most friendly feeling toward the United States.

"Everywhere we went," the secretary said, "there was a genuinely friendly attitude and a complete absence of that suspicion and distrust of the United States which has until recently existed to a more or less degree in some, at least of the central and South American countries. This is a very fortunate development. It is due primarily to the policies and utterances of President Wilson and to the suggestions made by the United States for mutual guarantees of the territorial integrity and political independence of all the American republics."

"Every leading statesman in South America with whom I talked emphasized the paramount importance of a merchant marine under the flag of the United States, or under the flags of the different American nations if American financial and commercial relations are to be enhanced upon an enduring foundation."

SHOWS ENORMOUS INCREASE IN TRADE WITH PHILIPPINES

NEW YORK, May 4.—In a compilation issued today by the foreign trade department of the National City Bank, an enormous growth of trade between the United States and the Philippine Islands is shown for the sixteen years that the islands have been under the American flag. Exports from the United States to the islands for that period amounted to $201,000,000 and the United States imported from the islands products to the value of $218,000,000, while for the sixteen years prior to annexation, exports amounted to only $2,000,000 and imports to $121,000,000. This country now receives more than forty percent of the island's exports and supplies a little more than fifty percent of their imports. Prior to their acquisition the Philippines received only one percent of the exports of this country.

MAY REPORT BRANDIS NOMINATION WITHOUT RECOMMENDATION

WASHINGTON, May 4.—Informal conferences among Democratic senators tonight disclosed that the judiciary committee may report the nomination of Louis D. Brandeis to the supreme court to the senate next week without recommendation. Opposition to the nomination in the committee is declared to remain formidable after the protracted subcommittee hearings and subsequent deliberations in the whole committee.

In view of the determined Republican opposition and uncertainty of some of the Democrats of the committee it has been suggested that the senate should take the case into its own hands.

LORIMER HAS ANOTHER ORDEAL IN COURT TO UNDERGO

Chicago, May 4.—William Lorimer, acquitted in the state court on charges of embezzlement and conspiracy in connection with the failure of the LaSalle Street Trust & Savings bank has another ordeal in court to undergo.

In this case Mr. Lorimer is charged with misappropriating funds of the LaSalle Street National Bank, predecessor of the LaSalle Street Trust & Savings Bank.

CONFEREES ON ARMY BILL DISAGREE

Adjourn Until Matters Can Be Taken Up in House

CHAMBERLAIN HOPEFUL

Volunteer Army and Nitrate Plant Amendments Adopted By Senate Cause Deadlock

HOUSE CONFEREES STAND FIRM

WASHINGTON, May 4.—Conferees on the army re-organization late today disagreed on important features of the measure and adjourned until matters in disagreement can be taken up in the house. The rocks on which the committee broke up were the federal volunteer army and the $15,000,000 government nitrate plant amendments adopted by the senate.

Notwithstanding the disagreement Senator Chamberlain, chairman of the senate conferees said tonight he had hopes that a good bill eventually would be worked out.

House Conferees Will Not Yield

"The house conferees would not yield to the senate provision for the volunteer army or the government nitrate plant," the senator said. "There are a number of minor points in the bill also which are in disagreement. But the main points seemed thus far to be the only irreconcilable features."

Representative Hay has promised to return the nitrate plant amendment to the house for further instructions. He stated, however, that the house would not accept the volunteer army and the senate conferees would not recede. In view of the apparent impasse the conferees adjourned, not to meet again until an effort is made to get further instructions from the house. We do not expect to take up the disputed points in the senate at this time as cause our conferees are unanimous and the senate has already passed on the subjects in controversy."

Up to the time of the break which had been forecast, the conferees had been making good progress on regular army re-organization and reserve features. They had tentatively agreed on a standing army in time of peace of 180,000 men, 40,000 more than the house bill called for, and an elastic organization scheme contained in the senate bill which would provide for expansion in time of war or threatened war to 220,000 men. They also had agreed to the house bill re-organization plan for the national guard which would provide for federalization of this reserve force and its expansion to approximately 400,000 men.

Discuss Volunteer Section

Early in the day Representative Hay, chairman of the house conferees, discussed the volunteer army reserve section of the senate bill with President Wilson. The president was understood to favor it, although no statement was made regarding the conference.

Representative Hay is said to have told the president that the house would not accept the volunteer force. This section of the senate bill provides for a reserve federal force of approximately 260,000 citizen soldiers in addition to the national guard.

Champions of the national guard feared that the proposed new force would operate to the great disadvantage of the guard and there was strong opposition to the plan in both house and senate. In the senate the volunteer force won by a majority of only two votes.

Representative Hay in his talk with the president also discussed the nitrate plant feature and the president insisted that it should be left in the bill. This attitude of the president is understood to have precipitated the disagreement today, although the other phases of the dispute would have caused the break anyway.

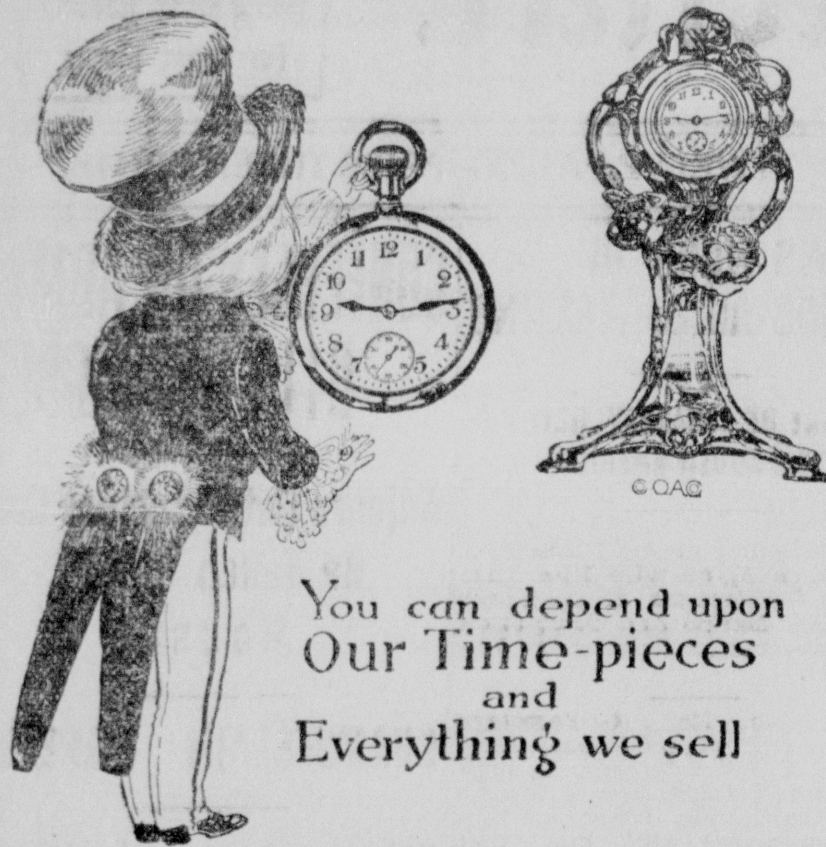

Must Have Instructions

In accordance with his pledge to the house on the nitrate issue, made when the bill was sent to conference, Chairman Hay could do nothing but instruct the house for further instructions. He promised the house that its conferees never would agree to the nitrate plant proposal without being instructed to do so.

If the president continues to insist on the nitrate plant provision it was declared another clash between the executive and the house would ensue. Republicans are standing solidly against the nitrate provision, insisting that it is being urged by a "waterpower" lobby. Many Democrats also oppose it.

Chairman Hay said tonight, however, there was no ground for the charge that waterpower interests would profit by the erection of a plant.

Distribution.

Arthur Brisbane, the well known New York editor, recently declared that advertising is the science of distribution and that distribution is the great problem of the day. "Plenty of water in the ocean," he said, "it needs distribution thru irrigation. Plenty of knowledge in the libraries, it needs distribution thru education. Plenty of merchandise and plenty of creative power in intelligent truthful advertising." The New York editor's phraseology is unusual. He has emphasized and made plain a great problem in a very few words.

Two Mexican children are reported to have found $500,000 in currency hidden under the floor of a building in which they were playing. They reported the find and were given the liberal sum of $100 reward. The dispatches do not say whether this is Villa, Carranza or U. S. money, and so the reader is left in doubt as to whether the find really has any value. The Carranza paper is good if you can find any one who will cash it, but the time is speedily coming when this paper will have about the same value as that issued by Villa, notwithstanding the recognition given Carranza by President Wilson contrary to precedent and the judgment of those most familiar with Mexican affairs.

Continuous Clean-Up Program.

The clean up and paint up movement has taken such a firm hold in some cities that permanent committees have been formed who will foster the idea of having the clean up program continuous. It's a worth while effort, for no city can be thoroughly cleaned and brightened up in a week's time, and if the effect ceases then the work done will soon be lost sight of in the succeeding days.

One good effort in connection with clean up campaigns has been to plant grass seed in vacant lots where weeds have previously flourished. In every city and town there are vacant properties which are allowed to grow into such condition that they mar the general effect even if great care has been taken with other properties. The clean up organization for Jacksonville should be continued, and if streets and back yards can be kept free from rubbish for months

Rippling Rhymes By WALT MASON

SATISFACTION

I hired a man to hoe my squashes; he came, in gauntlets and goshawks, at the appointed hour; he threw his coat upon some boulders, and rolled his shirt-sleeves to his shoulders, and hoed with vim and power. He did not pause at times to cackle about the war, nor yet to tackle the grievous income tax; he slew the weeds that threatened choking the vines, and kept his hoe a smoking, and buckled down like wax. And when his toilsome task was ended, up to the house this worker wended where I sat smoking hay, "Come out," he said, "where I've been hoeing, and see I've made a proper showing, before I draw my pay." I fell upon his neck and kissed him, and hung some laurels on his system, and cried, "You take the bun! For seldom do I see a fellow who cares how punk his work, or yellow, so that he gets the mon. I am enchanted with your labors, I'll recommend you to my neighbors, and boost you thru the town; the toiler who, by every action, endeavors to give satisfaction, deserves a high renown."

The result of the recent election in Ohio was quite disconcerting to the Democratic party. It was known that many of the Ohio Democrats who made a fight for President Wilson in 1912 had been unfriendly to him, but the sentiment expressed by the voters was not wholly expected. Out of 86,000 votes cast for Democratic delegates Frank Mounett, who made his race on his opposition to the Wilson administration, polled nearly 25,000 votes. The vote for Senator Pomerene, Democratic candidate for re-election, showed a vast falling off by comparison with the vote cast four years ago, and the same thing was true with other candidates who have been considered as identified with the administration.

Lorimer's Verdict No Surprise

To those who have followed the Lorimer trial the acquittal of the former senator was not a great surprise. Juries are very human as a rule and the long story of Lorimer's rise to the U. S. Senate from a position as a street car driver had its effect. Another factor was the knowledge that Lorimer is now practically penniless, and further, the enduring reputation he has had thru all his tempestuous career of extreme loyalty to his friends. These things, together with the additional fact of the ties which bind him to the common people, had influence upon the jury.

Ignorance of the affairs of the La Salle street bank in reality was not a proper defense for Lorimer posed as the president of that institution and was responsible for many of its depositors. Yet few have seemed to doubt the sincerity of his contention that he was not in touch with the bank management and that he will devote the remainder of his years to an effort to repay depositors who have lost their funds. If Lorimer at his time of life can "come back" and accomplish such a task, it will constitute a marvelous achievement.

Some weeks ago Secretary Redfield sent newspapers and business concerns thruout the country letters urging them to save all waste paper. The announced purpose of the campaign was to conserve the paper supply so that inflated prices would begin to decline. Now the announcement comes from Washington that the campaign was a success, and that while before the war levels had not been reached, that prices have slumped off in great degree. If this is the case, none of the publishers in this part of the country have the right line on the market, for paper has advanced fifty per cent in the last three months and manufacturers now quote only prices "subject to change without notice."

CLOSING AGREEMENT MADE BY JACKSONVILLE DRUGGISTS

One Drug Store Only to Be Open Each Sunday—Nine Merchants Enter Agreement.

At a meeting of the druggists of Jacksonville held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms Thursday afternoon the following agreement was entered into:

"Inasmuch as the present arrangement for opening our stores for business only a few hours each Sunday is not entirely satisfactory, and believing that an arrangement whereby one store would be open all day and the rest closed, would be a convenience to our patrons as well as to ourselves.

"We, the undersigned druggists of Jacksonville, do hereby agree to take turns in opening our respective stores on Sunday, and to remain closed when it is not our turn to open.

"We further agree to display in our window on Sundays that we are closed a suitable card directing customers to the store open that day.

"We further agree to begin to operate under the terms of this agreement Sunday, May 7, 1916, and that the order for keeping open shall be as follows: M. E. Gilbert, Coover & Shreve, west side; Armstrong & Armstrong, square; J. A. Obermeyer & Son, Long's pharmacy, Armstrong & Armstrong, East State; Coover & Shreve, east side; Lee P. Alcott; North Side Drug Store.

It was the sense of the meeting that this agreement should not be meant to cover the filling of prescriptions by appointment, but merely to decide upon who should open their store for business according to the new agreement.

The idea of one store being open all day is a good one and will be welcomed both by the patrons and by the druggists and their clerks.

MISS McPHAIL IS MARRIED TO L. R. HANKINS OF DAWSON

Wedding Ceremony Performed at Bride's Home Thursday Noon.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. McPhail just north of Jacksonville, the marriage of their daughter, Miss Alta McPhail, to Mr. Lloyd R. Hankins of Dawson, was solemnized at noon Thursday. The service was said in a very impressive way by the Rev. M. L. Pontius, pastor of the Central Christian church. Only near relatives were in attendance. Mrs. Harry Corbridge of Bluffs, sister of the bride, played the Mendelssohn wedding march as the young people entered the living room and stood before the minister. The notes of music sounded softly as the ceremony progressed. Later came the congratulations of those present and an elaborate wedding dinner. The bride wore a becoming gown of white crepe de chine and carried bride's roses. The house decorations were of a modest but tasty kind, the flowers of spring being used with good effect. Mr. and Mrs. Hankins are to spend a number of days with relatives in Brown county and will then begin housekeeping on Mr. Hankins' farm near Dawson.

The bride, who received her education in Jacksonville schools, has been especially popular with a wide circle of friends. She is a member of Central Christian church and has been active in several departments of the church work. Mr. Hankins is a graduate of normal school at Valparaiso, Ind., and for several years has been a prosperous farmer of Sangamon county and rated as one of the most successful citizens of the community in which he lives. A number of handsome wedding gifts attested the high esteem in which this bride and groom are held. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Corbridge and Miss Rosalie Hankins, a sister of the groom, were here for the ceremony.

DOES NOT CONTEMPLATE NAMING WOMAN PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE

CHICAGO, May 4.—The Woman's party convention here June 5-7 does not contemplate the nomination of a woman presidential candidate.

Statements that a woman would be nominated have been credited recently to Miss Alice Paul, chairman of the Congressional union, but Miss Paul said today that the wrong interpretation had been put on her words.

"We have not yet reached the stage where it would be wise to put forward a woman candidate for the highest office in the land," said Miss Paul. "Our convention will merely attempt to take full advantage of the balance of power held by women in the suffrage states to help to elect such candidates as will assist in passing the Anthony amendment to the constitution."

WOMEN IN THE NEWS.

San Francisco—Mrs. Azalia E. de Steffani, poet, artist, musician, soldier of fortune, and champion woman walker at the age of 85, is completing a hike of 165 miles from her home in Fruitvale to her ranch in the El Dorado foothills. Accompanied only by her sheepdog, "Rex," the veteran walker travels with a knapsack and a bundle of her poems. She has written 7,000 poems, has been a music teacher, a carpenter, a sign-painter, a plumber, a nurse and a saleswoman.

Rensselaer, Ind.—The fame of the Hoosier poets and authors may soon be equalled by that of the Indiana artists. This town has produced one of the most prominent of American sculptors in the person of Miss Mary Washburn, who worked along the up-hill route to fame in Paris and won international recognition at the San Francisco Exposition. Fifteen years of energy and determination was necessary to achieve her degree of success and fame. Her first great work was "Consolation," a bronze depicting child grief. Not only did it make a big hit in the Paris salon, but it appeals to the masses of the people.

New York—Miss Emma Goldman, leader of the more strenuous social reform element will emerge from jail in a few days. She is serving fifteen days in the workhouse for lecturing on birth control, having declined the alternative of paying a fine of a hundred dollars. Her trial was spectacular. Miss Goldman acting as her own counsel, and in self-defense discarding the moral, social and economic phases of birth control.

Philadelphia—One of the most interesting women visitors to this city recently was Mrs. T. J. Ryan, wife of the premier of Queensland, Australia. With her husband she is on her way to London, where an important conference of leaders of the British dominions is to take place. Mrs. Ryan is president of the Queensland Red Cross, and says that the province is doing a full share of charity work.

New York—The popularity of law courses for women is shown by the results achieved in the Woman's Law Class of New York University, from which forty women were graduated with degrees a few weeks ago. Among the forty were four married women. The class is conducted under the auspices of the Woman's Legal Education Society, for the purpose of giving business women some knowledge of commercial law. Two scholarships were awarded, each good for three years' tuition in the law school.

Detroit—Among the women who will be seen at the Grand American Handicap of the American trapshooters in St. Louis, in August, is a Detroit sharp-shooter, Mrs. L. C. Vogel, who holds the world's record for women by killing 96 out of a possible 100 live birds in one contest. This is a feat few men can boast of. An impetus has been given the gun sport for women by the admission of women to the Grand Handicap. One of Mrs. Vogel's rivals will be Miss Harriet D. Hammond of Wilmington, Del., whose father was one of the crack shots of the east.

Philadelphia—The suffragists of Philadelphia will hold a "Shirtnest Ball" tomorrow night, to raise funds to continue the work for the cause of suffrage and the popularization of it. Mrs. J. Archer Rulon of Chestnut Hill and Mrs. William A. Wood arranged the event on behalf of the Congressional Union, and the ball will be conducted along the lines of the shirtnest affair given by Mrs. Oliver H. P. Belmont in New York last winter.

St. Louis, May 4.—M. L. Barr of Perry, Mo., shooting at the 19 yard mark, was awarded the championship and trophy in the Grand Missouri handicap in the closing round of the Missouri trapshooting tournament here today.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 4.—Altho Bob Burman was killed some time ago while driving in an automobile race on the Pacific coast, the car he had started to prepare for the Memorial lap contest at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway will be entered just the same.

Tom Rooney has picked the car as his mount in the 200-mile race and says he does not feel the least creepy or superstitious about driving the machine which will embody many ideas, which Bob Burman, once crowned "Speed King" on the local course, believed should be included in a speedster.

break of the war the British government had given British shipping companies an opportunity to arm merchantmen with guns for protection against dangers "threatening under certain circumstances from auxiliary cruisers of other powers."

The British admiralty, it was added, published in January, 1914, a list showing that 29 steamers of various English lines carried stern guns.

Germany established, soon after the outbreak of the war, the memorandum said, that English liners were armed—the steamer LaCorrentina having been captured carrying two 4-pounders, 7-inch stern guns and a German submarine having been fired upon in the channel by an English yacht.

FORD SENDS ANOTHER PARTY ABROAD.

Will Go to Stockholm in Furtherance of Peace Plan.

New York, May 4.—Gaston Plantiff, Henry Ford's New York representative, will sail tomorrow for Stockholm, and it is expected he will be accompanied by several prominent men who are interested in the Ford peace plan. It is even said that Mr. Ford himself may make the trip, for he is known to have been considering a trip during May or June.

Mrs. Frederick H. Holt, whose husband is executive and financial secretary of the conference, has declared at her home in Detroit that she will not be one of the new party for she has much work on hand in connection with forming the American committee to co-operate with the Neutral Conference.

"The conference is making a most satisfying progress in its work," she says. "According to advices from Mr. Holt, several men of responsible position among both the allies and the central powers have taken cognizance of the work of the conference, which shows that it has not been in vain. It is impossible to give out who these persons are, but the world will undoubtedly be surprised when their names are made known."

"As organized at present, the conference consists of three American delegates and five each from Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Holland and Switzerland. There are some very prominent people among the delegates. Four of the five Swiss representatives are what in this country would be senators. Norway has the attorney general of Christiania, Haakon Loecken, Prof. Christopher Lange, secretary of the interparliamentary union and Prof. Julius Gjelsvik, an authority on international law in the University of Christiania. Two of Sweden's five are internationally known—Carl Lindhagen, the socialist mayor of Stockholm who was recently elected for life, and Prof. Ernst Johannes Vigfors of the University of Lund, an expert on documents relating to the war."

TEACHERS 'OR' SUBNORMAL CHILDREN CAN TAKE STATE COURSE

Special Line of Work To Be Given This Summer At Lincoln Under Auspices of the State Board of Administration.

Classes for exceptional children, better known as backward children, are a recognized necessity in all modern school systems. The effort to organize such classes has proceeded faster than the material to direct them has developed. Teachers for such classes are difficult to find. The training and the actual experience preparatory to taking such a class are equally difficult to obtain.

The charity service of Illinois realizes that it has some of the means at its disposal that would be valuable to any teacher seeking to fit herself to teach backward children.

Accordingly the Board of Administration, acting with the superintendent and the staff of the Lincoln State School and Colony, will conduct this summer a free school at that institution, for those who desire training for work with subnormal or retarded children.

The school is to be organized upon the same plan as that at Vineland, New Jersey, and it is proposed to make a permanent feature of that institution.

The plan has been enthusiastically endorsed by educators in this State, and by men and women engaged in the psychological field.

There will be a definite course of class room work supplemented by teachers by prominent men and women.

The course will open June 26 and continue to July 26.

WITH U. S. MARINES AFLOAT.

Ploughing the seven seas on board the superdreadnaught Oklahoma, one of our newest, most powerful and formidable fighting ships, is Chester H. McGloshen, of this city.

Chester H. McGloshen, who is a son of Mrs. Anna McGloshen, 741 West Railroad St., enlisted in the United States Marine Corps at its Louisville, Ky., recruiting station on November 2, 1914.

Marines wear a distinctive military uniform, and they perform a soldier's duty while roving the seas aboard ship. They are always first landed when trouble threatens, and they bear the brunt of the initial fighting. Usually these "soldiers of the sea" are able to cope with any situation that may arise abroad without having to call in the army to assist.

Young McGloshen has had many interesting experiences as a member of that gallant organization "the oldest branch of the service."

William Hart of Franklin was attending to business in the city yesterday.

CORONER STILL INVESTIGATING McDONALD MURDER CASE

More Witnesses Examined at Hearing Thursday—Wooley Subjected to Grilling But Sticks to Story.

Wood Wooley, alias "Texas," is either telling the truth in the McDonald murder case or is an experienced criminal. When the coroner's jury reconvened in the McDonald murder case in the circuit court room Thursday morning Wooley was again placed on the stand. He was given a hard grilling by States Attorney Hairgrove and J. Marshall Miller who is assisting in the conduct of the investigation he seldom deviated from his original story and at no time was he placed in a position where he would have to "back up."

A great many witnesses were examined but little was learned. There seems to be an undercurrent in all the testimony which tells one that if any of the witnesses on the stand would tell absolutely all they knew that the mystery of McDonald's death would be solved. There is a well grounded conviction in the mind of the state's attorney and probably of every member of the coroner's jury that nearly anyone of those who have been on the stand could tell much more than they have and that their testimony would do much toward clearing up the affair.

Frank Wright on Stand

Perhaps the most important testimony given before the jury Thursday was that of Frank Wright who operates the hamburger stand at the corner of West Lafayette avenue and North West street. The murder mystery seems to center around this place and all of the witnesses placed on the stand with the exception of one was a visitor at the hamburger stand Saturday night or Sunday morning and probably all of them know more than they have told to the coroner's jury. In reply to a question from Attorney Hairgrove if he remembered what Wooley said Saturday night while at his place Wright said, "Texas" Wooley told me that he had been mistreated and asked me if he wasn't a good fellow. He said he was going to get even.

According to Wright then Wooley said, "I am going to kill some nigger before I leave town." James Casen testified that Wooley came to his house and asked if "Treetops" McDonald had been there. Other testimony of a similar nature was given.

Fred Griswold, whom the police suspect of knowing more than he has yet told, was again placed on the stand. Griswold did not talk without lots of questioning and then it seemed that he might be holding something back. One other thing that came out was that Mrs. Govan had told Mrs. Sue Hutchinson, who keeps house for James Casen, that she (Mrs. Govan) had seen Fred Griswold burning some bloody clothing. Nothing developed from this, however.

Grover Flinn, a book binder, residing at 222 North West street, was the first witness called. Flinn said he was in Wright's hamburger stand at 11:30 Saturday night. He said he bought something to eat for some colored man. Flinn's memory seemed to be bad as he could not remember who was in the hamburger stand and did not know the man he bought the eatables for. Flinn said he went from Wright's to the residence of Sallie Jones and did not hear of the murder until Sunday when Bland Brown came to the house and told of it.

Conversations are Repeated

Frank Wright, proprietor of the hamburger stand, testified that McDonald was in his place about 11:30 o'clock. Wright said McDonald asked Flinn for something to eat saying, "Say whitefolks, I'm broke and want something to eat." Wright said that Flinn paid for three sandwiches for McDonald. The witness said that Flinn and McDonald seemed to know each other. Wright said Wooley, "Texas" and Ross came in about 12 o'clock and Texas paid him fifty cents he owed and bought two sandwiches for McDonald. According to Wright "Texas" said to McDonald, "Come on, let's go, it is time we were over there."

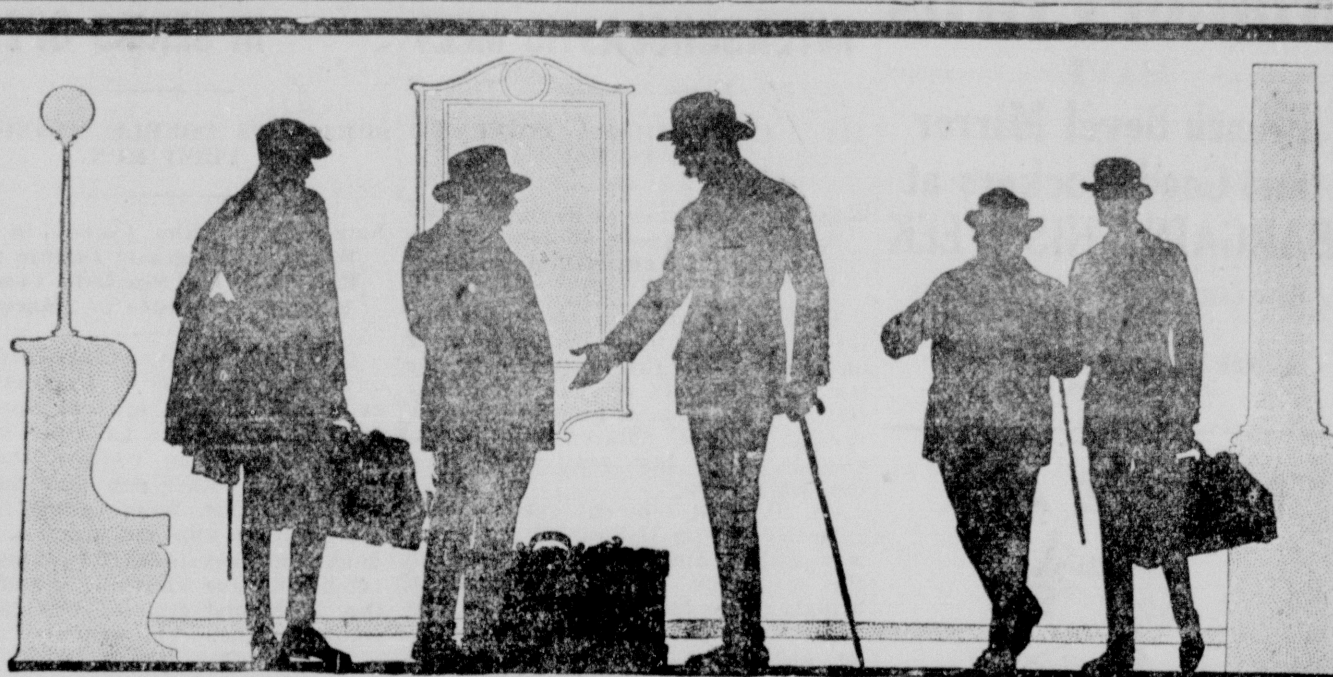

They all left together about 12:30 o'clock. Texas and Ross came back in about an hour and someone asked Texas where "Treetops" was and Texas laughed and said, "I don't know." Then the men left and witness said he did not see them any more. Saw Ross Sunday evening.

Asked if he remembered anything "Texas" had said Wright said Texas said he had been mistreated and was going to get even and that he would kill some nigger before he left town.

George Nunes of 534 Hooker street said McDonald had worked for his father, William Nunes. When he quit he had overdrawn his account several dollars and Nunes said he had gone to Cohen's where McDonald was working to collect it. He had gone with McDonald to Ferreira's grocery store where McDonald paid him a dollar and a half. He said that McDonald told him he was going down on Cox street after supper and drink himself up some booze.

Walter Hill testified that he knew Ross, McDonald and Wooley when he saw them. Saw McDonald at Wright's hamburger stand about 11:30 o'clock Saturday night. Others present were Frank Wright, Mert Terrell, Grover Flinn, Jennie Robinson and Rich Washington. Did not see "Texas" or Ross. Flinn was there when he left.

James Casen of 339 Broadway said McDonald was at his house from about 8 to 10:30 o'clock Saturday night. Noble Turner was with him. "Texas" was there about 7:30 o'clock and asked if McDonald had been there. He said there were two white men standing down the street a short distance from his house when he was talking to "Texas." Later Casen was called back to the stand to give the name of the woman who keeps house for him.

The home of Hart Schaffner & Marx Clothes

Charles Stewart, hackdriver, told of taking McDonald and his mother to the junction from Lorton street. He said that he was going to meet a train and gave them a ride. McDonald said he wanted to go to Wooley's grocery store and get some groceries.

Story of Bloody Clothing

Joe Wright of 515 North Sandy street said he had last seen McDonald at Casen's house about 10 o'clock Saturday night. He had seen "Texas" at Richards' store about 7:30 o'clock Saturday evening. In response to a question as to whether he thought McDonald had been killed some place else and his body moved to where it was found, Wright said that he had gone to where the body was found in company with Webb and Casen and that there was no blood on the ground. He said that Mrs. Govan had told a she had seen Fred Griswold burning some bloody clothing.

The lady in question he said was housekeeper for Casen. Wright said he saw Wooley change his cap for Robinson's hat before he started for the country on Cohen's wagon. Last saw Ross Sunday evening.

Fred Griswold was again placed on the stand but did not prove a very satisfactory witness. He contradicted himself several times and there was some discrepancy in his story of the time he went to bed Saturday night or Sunday morning.

F. P. Hastings, a printer for the Journal testified to seeing three men on North West street when he went home from work. He said that one seemed to be under the influence of liquor and the other two were assisting him. They were going south on West street and he was going north to his rooming place. Hastings told of waking Wooley up Sunday morning and asking him if he would get him some liquor.

Mason alias "Spec" Henderson was placed on the stand but did not know any of the parties and said he was not in the north end of town Saturday night. Arthur Stewart, who runs a billiard hall at 227 south Main street testified to "Wooley" and Ross being in his place about 11:30 o'clock. He said the only thing he heard said was when Wooley said to Ross, "Let's go."

Wooley was again placed on the stand. He corroborated his testimony given at the previous hearing. State's Attorney Hairgrove and Mr. Miller who is assisting and several of the jury tried to shake Wooley's testimony but he told his story much the same and when the same question was asked repeatedly always made the same reply. He seemed to have himself well in hand. He again told the story of the quarrel between McDonald and Ross and described minutely the manner in which Ross killed McDonald. At the conclusion of the examination of Wooley the jury adjourned to meet Saturday when further testimony will be taken.

J. C. Morton of Roodhouse had occasion to visit the city yesterday.

WEST VIRGINIA G. O. P. IN DILEMMA.

Wheeling, W. Va., May 4.—The Republican State Convention, which is being held here today, has a political dilemma to solve. Owing to a law requiring political parties to select their delegates to national conventions by primaries, nobody will know in this state who is to go to Chicago until the night before the convention meets. The primary does not take place until June 6, and the convention meets the next day in Chicago. An attempt will be made to solve the situation today, by agreeing on only one candidate from each district, if that is possible. Unless there is harmony today, there is sure to be some hustling for West Virginia to be represented on the important opening day in Chicago.

State Chairman Tom Sherrard is suggested as one of the Big Four. Governor Hatfield is also spoken of, and H. C. Ogden of Wheeling is another candidate put forward.

The state political situation is seething this year, and there are hot contests for the nomination for governor, also for the United States Senate.

10. Verse 27-43, Chap. 12-25. Barnabas and Paul carried from the church at Antioch a liberal contribution to the poor Christians at Jerusalem, and returned to Antioch; what effect did this diversion to social service work have upon their efficiency in their spiritual work?

11. Chap. 13-1. Where was the city of Antioch situated?

12. What constituted a Christian church then, and now?

13. Verse 2. What constitutes a fast, and of what benefit is it?

14. What connection was there between their ministering and fasting, and The Holy Spirit speaking to them?

15. Verse 3. If it is the duty of the church to send out missionaries, why is it also the duty of every member of the church to gladly support them?

Tooth Loose? Watch out for Pyorrhea!

When you find a tooth that gives back and forth even just a little, see your dentist at once.

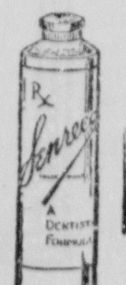

He will find conditions which you might overlook. He will find a gum recession, even though slight, where the gums have pulled away from the teeth. And he will tell you that you have the dread disease pyorrhea.

From pyorrhea come by far the greater part of all tooth troubles. Unless treated and checked, it will result not only in the shrinking and malformation of your gums and of the bony structure into which your teeth are set, but in the loss of the teeth themselves.

A specific for pyorrhea has been discovered recently by dental science, and is now offered for daily treatment in Senreco Tooth Paste. Senreco combats the germ of the disease. Its regular use insures your teeth against the attack or further progress of pyorrhea.

But Senreco does more. It cleanses the teeth delightfully. It gives them a whiteness distinctive of Senreco alone. Its flavor is entirely pleasing, and it leaves in the mouth a wonderful sense of coolness and wholesomeness.

Start the Senreco treatment before pyorrhea grips you for good. Details in folder with every tube. A two-ounce tube for 25c is sufficient for 6 weeks' daily treatment. Get Senreco of your druggist today; or send 4c in stamps or coin for sample tube and folder. Address The Santanel Remedies Company 503 Union Central Building, Cincinnati, Ohio.

SCHRAM

ALL IS READY FOR INTERSCHOLASTIC MEET

ALL INDICATIONS POINT TO GREAT DAY

Some Records Sure to Be Smashed—
Speculation About Winning Team—
Judges and Officials Announced

Predictions are for ideal weather for the second interscholastic meet on Illinois field this afternoon. Judging from reports received by Coach Harmon of previous performances by various athletes entered some of the records made last year will go by the board today.

At the last moment entries were submitted from Delevan, Stonington, New Salem and Perry have entered the meet since last announcement, bringing the total number to thirty-five. Thursday afternoon and evening athletes were arriving, eight of the teams being already on the ground. They are Hinsdale, Waynesville, Greenfield, East St. Louis, Waverly, Table Grove, Carlinville and Scottville.

It is expected that if the men are in form the marks for the 100 and 200 yard dashes, the javelin throw, pole vault and shot put will be broken. In the 100 yard dash four star runners of known ability will come together, not to mention some star who may come to the front unexpectedly from some of the other cities. Jordan who last ran the event in 10 seconds will again be on the mark. Dunne of Springfield who defeated Jordan last week will be in the race with Reynolds of Jacksonville and Close of White Hall. Last year Jordan defeated Reynolds by inches. Close must be some runner for he defeated Reynolds at Griggsville last week.

The record for the javelin throw made last year by Euecht of Beardstown was 147 feet 7 inches. Angier of Beardstown is coming this year with a trial of 160 feet while Dunne last week hurled the missile 156 feet. The record for pole vault also is sure to go. The record is 10 feet 6 inches. Elison of Springfield and Routzahn of Girard both have cleared the bar at 11 feet 3 inches. Benschoter of Mason City is said to have heaved the shot 45 feet in the Corn Belt meet and Crutcher of Palmyra in practice has thrown it over 45 feet. It looks like Ross' record of last year of 41 feet 10 1/2 inches will be raised.

There is much speculation as to the probable winner of the meet. Some of the best judges are of the opinion that the winning team will not gather thirty points. They figure this from the fact that many schools have individual stars and these schools may divide up the first places so that the school with an evenly balanced team which can win place in many events is likely to walk away with the prize. Some of the schools from a distance of which little are known may surprise the wise ones. However, from what is actually known as to the men the contest seems to lie between Jacksonville, Springfield, White Hall and Pawnee.

The following have been selected as officials for the meet:

Just Why Your Hair Falls Out

Alcohol in Hair Tonics, and Missing
Hair Elements Always Cause
Baldness.

A good many people have never believed that hair could actually be grown on a bald spot. That's be-

The hair on the right has shrivelled up from the alcohol in hair tonics—the other hair is vigorous after treatment by Yola-Vita.

cause it has really never been done before. But the way to do it, surely and beyond question, has now been discovered.

The new, scientific hair discovery, YOLA-VITA, actually does it. It is no longer a doubt, it is a fact.
Hair has been analyzed and is found to contain five vital substances. Unless these are in correct quantities, hair loses its vigor,
—it dies, falls out, turns gray, dandruff and baldness result. When the missing substances are restored, a remarkable change results. YOLA-VITA restores these missing substances so wonderfully that hair quickly begins to grow lavishly, even on shiny bald heads, dandruff promptly and surely vanishes, and more remarkable still, the original color of the hair—whether it was black, brown or red—is restored to any gray, faded, or bleached hair, without dye or stain. It is a wonderful re-vitalizer of hair roots and color-glands.

Alcohol in hair tonics always kills hair, drying up the secretions.
YOLA-VITA is sold at all drug

PEOPLE WHO SUFFER WITH HEADACHES MAY HAVE Weak Hearts Without Knowing It

The splendid organization, composed of many of the leading retail druggists of this country, and the foremost laboratory devoted to preparing ready-put-up prescriptions heading the Salko-Health-Safety-First Movement, say the following, which everyone should read:

"Follow member: This is brought to your attention so that you may make it your duty to urge sufferers with headache to use a remedy which we know and you know to be safe and not to have a bad effect on the heart. We feel justified in recommending one of which we are certain—that is the ready-put-up prescription known as Salko Liquid Headache Remedy. As you well know, this preparation contains ingredients which are known as heart stimulants, and therefore prevent the remedy from slowing down the action of the heart. And as a depressed or slow heart is bad for anybody and even dangerous for sufferers with weak hearts, we urge that you earnestly recommend the Safety First prescription. Salko Liquid Headache Remedy."

We agree heartily with this bulletin, and ask the public to be sure and safe in treating their headaches. We know what is in Salko Liquid Headache Remedy and can honestly recommend it as being safe, sure and quick in its beneficial results. Ours is the only store in this city where this or any other of the Salko Safety First Remedies can be obtained. Come in and let us give you free the Salko Safety First Manual of Health and Diet—it explains just what this movement is, tells about the ready-put-up prescriptions and shows you how by exercise and diet you can keep healthy.

DEALINGS IN STOCKS ARE LIGHT AND NARROW FROM THE OUTSET

Intermediate Period Is Dull to the Point of Absolute Apathy.

New York, May 3.—Virtually the same influences that have recently tended to curtail trading and depress prices were operative again today. The cumulative perplexities resulting from the situation between Washington and Berlin kept Wall street in a state of nervous suspense.

Dealings were light and narrow from the outset the intermediate period being dull to the point of absolute apathy. Early prices were irregular, but manifested underlying firmness, until heavy selling of mercantile marines served to undermine the entire list. The further decline of marines was naturally associated with the dissatisfaction expressed at the proposed readjustment plan submitted by the preferred shareholders' protective committee. The Mexican group supplemented yesterday's advances, Mexican Petroleum rising 3% to 10 1/2% with more moderate gains for American Smelting and Greene Cananea Copper. War shares and allied issues as well as coppers were 1 to 2 points higher at times, but receded in the final hour when Union Pacific, United States Steel and other potential leaders were at their lowest, the market closing with a weak undertone.

Total sales of stocks amounted to 515,000 shares.

Narrow changes marked the day's nominal dealings in foreign exchanges, but these again favored the German market, marks advancing a fraction while francs, as well as sterling were inclined to shade. The Bank of England reduced its gold holdings by something over $7,000,000, but the Bank of France made a nominal gain in this item, incidentally increasing its discounted bills and advances.

PESSIMISTIC FORECASTS OF BERLIN REPLY DEPRESSES WHEAT

Market Closes Heavy 2% to 3 Cents Net Lower—Corn and Oats Also Suffer Losses.

Chicago, May 4.—Pessimistic forecasts of the reply of Berlin to Washington led to a sharp setback today in the value of wheat, and so too, did reports that civilians were leaving Metz. The market closed heavy, 2% to 3c net lower, with May at $1.13 1/2 and July at $1.14 1/2 to $1.14 1/4. Corn lost 1/2c to 1 1/4c and oats 1/4c to 1/2c.

In provisions the outcome was an advance of 2 1/2 to 5c to 17 1/2c.

Closing prices in the wheat market were virtually the lowest point of the day. Assertions that reserves of wheat said to have been accumulated by the British government would not come into competition with commercial stocks did not have much effect in stopping the descent of wheat prices here. On the other hand the bulls were distinctly handicapped to some extent by the Kansas state crop report which estimated the Kansas yield this season as 20,000,000 bushels more than was harvested in 1915.

Corn turned weak with wheat. The market was also bearishly affected by the excellent conditions for planting. Canadian competition tended to depress oats. Canadian oats were offered in New York at 4 cents under Chicago standards.

Higher prices on hogs gave the initial strength to provisions.

Oats 1/2c to 1 1/2c higher; No. 3 white, 44c; sample, 42c.

MINNEAPOLIS GRAIN MARKET.

Minneapolis, May 4.—Wheat lower. Corn and oats were fairly strong. Cash wheat: No. 1 hard, $1.26; No. 1 northern, $1.21 to $1.23 1/2; to arrive, $1.20 1/2 to $1.23; No. 2 northern, $1.17 1/2 to $1.21 1/2; No. 3 wheat, $1.11 1/2 to $1.18 1/2.

FIGURES ARE GIVEN ON UNITED STATES WEALTH

Enormous Increase in the Last Twelve Years—Real Estate Forms More Than One-Half the Vast Total.

In 1912 the population of the United States was 95,410,000, and in that year the national wealth of the country was estimated at the enormous figure of $187,739,000,000. The wealth per capita therefore was $1,967. In 1900 the national wealth was estimated at $88,517,000,000, showing an increase within twelve years of $99,222,000,000, or 112 1/2 per cent. The value of real estate property and improvements in 1912 was, taxed, $98,323,000,000, and exempt from taxation $12,313,000,000. This record is compared to $46,325,000,000 and $6,213,000,000 in 1900. Wealth in real estate thus forms more than one-half of the total wealth of the country, showing an increase during twelve years of $58,138,000,000, about 105 per cent. No other land can present such figures as there, and very few countries can come anything like approximately them in value.

In the last twelve years the national wealth of the United States has expanded at the rate 112 1/2 per cent, says the Real Estate Magazine, of $803 per head of population, the latter having increased at the rate of 25 1/2 per cent. In recent times, the wealth of the world has grown at a rate of more than $15,000,000,000 per year, and in no part of the world is the increase more rapid than it is in this country, the wealthiest nation of the globe, and upon which practically all civilized nations depend, not only for large supplies of foodstuffs, but for manufacturers of all kinds. This is a proud record for a country which has not yet reached a century and a half of existence, and ample evidence of the wisdom of its founders in establishing the greatest republic on the face of the earth.

Of course, everybody knows that real estate is actually the only real, substantial property, but few have dreamed of its immense value in comparison with that of other property. The next in value in the country is the railroads, which, with their equipment, are valued at but $16,148,000,000, a little more than one-sixth of the value of our real estate. The increase note in the last, of course, is made up largely of improved values caused by betterments, and the influence of surroundings, which has forced lands which were at one time of no considerable value upward in the market, making millions of those shrewd enough to anticipate their future. Real estate property, as these statistics show, is the most safe and reliable of any branch of the national wealth.

HENRY P. DAY MAY DIE AS RESULT OF MOTOR CRASH

Veteran News Writer Is Run Down by Motorcycle—Rider Badly Hurt.

(Peoria Herald-Transcript.)
Henry P. Day, veteran journalist and writer, known all over this section of the country as "Daisy" Day, is lying seriously injured in Proctor hospital as the result of being struck by a motorcycle late yesterday afternoon in the 700 block South Adams street. He suffered a compound fracture of the lowest left leg, besides bad cuts and bruises about his head and body which may indicate internal injuries of an even more serious nature. He was attended by Dr. T. M. McElvaine and that physician reported his patient last night resting in a satisfactory condition with a possibility of recovery unless internal injuries develop.

HUSBAND OBJECTS TO OPERATION

Wife Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Des Moines, Iowa.—"Four years ago I was very sick and my life was nearly spent. The doctors stated that I would never get well without an operation and that without it I would not live one year. My husband objected to any operation and got me some of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took it and commenced to get better and am now well, am stout and able to do my own housework. I can recommend the Vegetable Compound to any woman who is sick and run down as a wonderful strength and health restorer. My husband says I would have been in my grave ere this if it had not been for your Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. BLANCIE JEFFERSON, 703 Lyon St., Des Moines, Iowa.

Before submitting to a surgical operation it is wise to try to build up the female system and cure its derangements with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; it has saved many women from surgical operations.

Senator Sherman Tells How He Would Raise Money For U. S. Defense

James B. Morrow writing in the Cincinnati Enquirer has a very interesting character study of Senator L. Y. Sherman together with his views on money for defenses which occupies the larger part of a page and appears with a half tone of senator. A portion of the article is printed herewith.

To all of his narratives and expositions—to the dramatics of large events and equally to the dry doctrines of politics, the shored up with tables of humdrum statistics—Lawrence Yates Sherman gives a literary quality that surprises his readers and those who hear him. He is even grammatical while electioneering from the back end of a railroad train.

So he was last year in the Senate when he made his day-and-night speech against the shipping bill. The last of his 80,000 words were as carefully chosen, uniquely arranged and alive with wit and energy as were the first. Yet he had spoken for many hours, while Washington slept, and it was then about 9 o'clock in the morning.

Most of the senatorial filibustering enterprise—ever rambling and hatched up. Sentences are not completed. The subject being debated is lost and frequently never recovered in a running history of the human race, a great deal of which is inaccurately stated.

But Sherman's sentences can be parsed, whether he is on the floor of the Senate or at a rural schoolhouse in the West. He is said, in the plainness of his manner and virility of his humor, to be much like Abraham Lincoln. The resemblance goes further. Sherman, too, is an artist with language, and yet his artistry never goes so far as to make his sincerity or his message seem secondary.

When Senator Sherman's modesty is overcome, if it ever shall be, or when he grows a little more aggressively interested in his own personality, or if he is nominated for President, at the suggestion of Illinois, by the Republicans in June, the country will learn all at once, the many will believe his dogmas unsound and dangerous, that another great orator has been living, almost unknown, nationally, in the city of Springfield.

Some of His Sentences

With Thomas B. Macaulay and Job Fiske he has the gift—which is drudgery plus a noble enthusiasm for his labor of stating his facts or his opinions in language that lures the reader onward, paragraph after paragraph, to the end of the chapter. As a maker of phrase he coins them with a sober purpose, as did Benjamin Franklin, and not in vanity over his skill or spectacularity in the organization of words into notable sentences. For example:

When I asked him about the Bull Moose, he said: "I think the prodigal always ought to be welcomed and taken in, but he shouldn't turn around and try to run his daddy out of the house and off the place."

"What books have I read?" he repeated in some alarm, as he sat in his office and answered the questions to the writer of this article. Then he chuckled, for that is the way he laughs and said: "We had a wooly colt, out in Jasper County, P. T. Barnum bought it. So when P. T. wrote an autobiography, I borrowed a copy, hid it in the grass and read it secretly and sinfully, while the horses 'blowed' at the end of the furrow. I thought I knew Barnum because my father had known the colt."

"That was my second book. The first book was Goodrich's History of All Nations," which was to large to handle except on the floor. I have read a good many books since, but I have only digested three—the Bible, Shakespeare's poetry and plays and Esop's Fables."

"What would you call a holiday?" "Going fishing," Senator Sherman replied. "I used to fish when I was a boy; would jump on a horse and ride to the river a half mile away. Except for the grip now and then, I haven't had a day off since 1911. I campaigned steadily for more than four years. First, I was a candidate against Mr. Cullum for the Senate. Then I had a fight with Roger C. Sullivan, the Democratic candidate, and Raymond Robins, the professional philanthropist, who was running on the Bull Moose ticket. "I had been for Roosevelt in 1912. As one of the delegates at large to the convention that year, I had voted for every Roosevelt motion from start to finish. I didn't like the way in which the convention was managed any more than I liked the way things were done at the convention four years previously. Roosevelt nominated Taft in 1908, employing the same methods that the Taft politicians put into practice four years later."

Refused To Bolt in 1912.

The Republicans of Illinois were for Cannon in 1908. The instincts of the men who live on the prairies are usually right. We didn't believe that Taft ought to be nominated. But Roosevelt had his way; and in 1912 I did everything I could to make him the candidate. "When he was defeated, I was asked to leave the convention, go to another hall and start a new party, on what was called the ruins of Republicanism. I declined the invitation."

"Thus it happened that when I was in the great battle with Sullivan and Robins—and I was speaking from five to thirty-two times a day—Roosevelt came into Illinois, stumped the state and called me a man of putty and a fizzle as a Senator. The Republican party was a wreck, but I carried my case to the people. I spoke in every county of Illinois. "Eight days before election I entered Chicago. A dead-fall had been set for me there, but it didn't work. The trap skinned my legs and got some of my largest and proudest feathers, but I escaped. Chicago voted 60,000 against me. The rest of the State, however, gave me a plurality of 80,000. So I was returned to the Senate. The Republican party is united again and I have no enemies to punish or even to remember. The past is forgotten. You see, therefore, why I haven't learned to play golf or go fishing."

"Do you think the United States should have the largest navy in the world?"

"That would mean," Senator Sherman answered, "a greater navy than the navy of the British. The cost in time would be large and in money it would be prodigious. The United States is not an English country, but it is an English-speaking country and our freedom began with the English who settled in Massachusetts and Virginia. This is a republic; Great Britain is a democracy. The two nations, similar in many fundamental respects, are not likely ever to make war on each other. Our navy, however, should be made stronger and should be adequate to meet any possible enemy of the future."

How He Would Get The Cash

"How would you obtain the money with which to increase the defenses of the country?"

"I like to sit at my desk and work with figures. Appropriations to me are one of the most interesting subjects connected with legislation. I am glad, consequently, to answer your question. I would increase the tariff rates, not because I am a protectionist but because an increase, say of 30 per cent, would be the most scientific way of adding to the revenues of the Government. Sugar and wool would be put on the dutiable list. Thus $100,000,000 of new money would come into the Treasury."

"Next, I would amend the law taxing incomes. The citizens of this country are divided into three classes. One class, with incomes of less than $3,000 a year, escapes all tax. Men in this class are near the bread line. They are keeping things in motion—running railroads, factories, stores and so on. In this great class are engineers, architects, physicians, mechanics, farmers and small merchants. The difference between what they receive and pay out is small. To put a tax on their incomes would be to tax their producing power and that would be unjust. Then there is the class consisting of persons whose incomes range from $3,000 to $20,000 a year. If unmarried, and from $4,000 to $20,000, if married. They are a long distance from the bread line and are either exceptional men in the way of earning capacity or have investments—houses, bonds, stocks and so forth. The tax of one per cent on them is not too heavy."

"Also there is the class whose incomes are greater than $20,000 a year. They are miles and miles away from the bread line. I would increase the tax on this class and also on corporations and thereby obtain additional revenue amounting to $40,000,000 annually."

"My third suggestion would be rejected. I know, by many men who are experts in matters pertaining to taxation, I would lay a tax on inheritances and divide the money so collected between the nation and the state wherein the money was obtained. An inheritance tax, it is argued, is local and not national. I would divide it, as I have said."

Why He Opposes Socialism

"The wealth of Great Britain is estimated at $85,000,000,000. Death taxes there bring $125,000,000 into the Treasury annually. Our wealth is said to be $187,000,000,000. As a matter of fact, it is a great deal more. "Little by little that 187 billions of money is passing thru our Probate Courts as inheritances to persons and institutions. It ought to be taxed. If it were taxed $250,000,000 annually could be divided evenly between the states and the National Government. So then, replying to your question, I would raise $100,000,000 additional in customs duties, $40,000,000 by increasing the tax on incomes and $125,000,000 by a tax on inheritances, or a total of $265,000,000 a year."

"Do you believe that the Government should own and operate the railroads, mines, factories and other instrumentalities of big business?"

"I do not," Senator Sherman answered. "I am a Socialist. I believe, however, in regulated individualism. So long as all public utilities give adequate service at reasonable prices they should be owned and operated as at present. There are enough officeholders already in the country. I once sent for a man, out in Illinois. 'You are on the pay roll,' I said, 'but I am told that you are not doing any work.' "That's correct," he replied, looking me in the face without a blush or a wink of his eye. "Why are you accepting pay when you are not doing any work?" I asked. "I worked hard enough to get the job," he had the impudence to say, "and I ought not to do any work, now that I have it."

"Peppys, Samuel, the man made famous by a diary, while clerk of the British Admiralty, noted that 'it cost Charles, my King, more to get anything done than any one in private life.' It has been so at all times and at all places. The National Government has been engaged in the postoffice business for more than 100 years, and even now, it can't get the postoffice on a self-sustaining basis."

Saw Great Adventures.

The father, Nelson Sherman, "loved his dog, gun, horse and plug of tobacco." The mother was a Yates. Husband and wife moved to Illinois from Ohio in a covered wagon. Lawrence their infant son, spent the nights and the greater part of the erior has a new team in the field, and baseball interest has been quickened here, as it has in other cities of the circuit. The outlook is far brighter this year than in 1915, according to President Burmeister, and the class of ball should be better. The salary limit in the Northern this year is $1,400, exclusive of managers.

SONG PROGRAM AT TEACHERS' CONVENTION

EXCELLENT PROGRAM BY CHARLES W. CLARK, BARITONE

First All-American Program of its Kind Yet Given Before I. M. T. A. —Next Meeting in Urbana—Many Welcome Mr. Phillips—Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra Today.

The first all-American song program to be presented before a convention of the Illinois Music Teachers' association, was offered last night by Charles W. Clark, the distinguished baritone of Chicago. It was a patriotic thing to do and, it is pleasing to record, a grateful thing as well for Mr. Clark chose wisely in his effort to represent indigenous art. He therefore was able to add to the glory of the native composer and to escape the doubtful reward that waits upon the unselfish.

Central Christian church auditorium was filled to its capacity with an audience which welcomed the musicians with enthusiasm uncurbed. The Thursday evening session, the climax of the convention sessions, there remain three programs of unusual strength today.

Next Meeting in Urbana
Urbana is generally agreed upon as the next place of meeting, the definite decision in this matter is left with a committee appointed for the purpose. This will be among the subjects of consideration at noon today, when delegates will assemble in the Sunday school room of the church for the annual business meeting.

Mr. Clark is master of a noble art. His voice has lost none of the splendid warmth and vigor that first won him recognition, and the passing years have brought the superlative interpretative skill that now distinguishes him. Conspicuous among his artistic virtues is his command of diction. Last night each detail of enunciation, of expressive stress on word or syllable was so perfectly defined to the listener that all were convinced of the preeminent suitability of the English language to song.

Mr. Clark's Program
The program contained twenty-two songs. They varied greatly in worth and type of song that the art has developed. Most worthy, perhaps, certainly most interesting was Roland Leach's "Gospel of Pan," a work in which harmonic resource, and in apt melodic definition of the text was worthy to be compared with the best output of the modern French and German schools. Mr. Leach, it may be mentioned, was born in New England, educated at Yale and now is active in Chicago. Another characteristic and individual song bore the strange title "The Lowest Trees Have Tops" by Beall. It served to open the program. The text was quaint and its mood eloquently defined.

A group of songs by Sidney Homer, who adds to his distinction as husband of the most beautiful of the Metropolitan company's contraltos, the harder-won honors of the successful composer, were Mr. Clark's next offerings. Of these the simplest, entitled "Uncle Rome" and "Sheep and Lambs" possess the greatest measure of true beauty, the fine dramatic effect of the two opening songs, "How's my Boy" and "Prospect"—the latter to Browning's noble text—is not to be denied.

Four women composers, all it is said, residents of this state, were drawn upon for the next division of the program. Two of these songs—Lulu Jones Downing's imaginative, colorful and tuneful "June" and Mrs. Sturkow-Ryder's rather sombre "Love Feast"—should find a permanent place on the programs of thoughtful artists. For the five settings of Byrons "Hebrew Melodies" by Charles Bennett it is not possible to find other commendation than was defined in their eminent singability. Otherwise they are hopelessly conventional. More attractive was Hahn's charmingly simple little love song and Fogel's exquisitely poetic and fantastic bit of mood and melody. Campbell-Tipton's "A Fool's Soliloquy" made effective close to the program to which Mr. Clark was obliged to add as encores Foote's "An Irish Folk-Song" and Damrosch's "Denny Deever."

Thursday Afternoon.

The concert given yesterday afternoon—the fifth important program during the convention—was, in many respects worthy of especial and individual distinction. After the notable success of the preceding concert which had established such a remarkably high standard of artistic excellence and interest, everyone was keenly alert, eager and perhaps anxiously wondering if it would be possible to continue to present programs and individual artists of such conspicuous success. Without detracting in the least from the remarkable quality of the previous programs, it is a pleasure to record that the enthusiastic approval manifested by the audience (which again taxed the capacity of the auditorium), marks this program as one of the most enjoyable ever presented by the association.

Mr. Harsh Pleases.
The playing of Lois Baptiste Harsh was an example of the highest ideals of pianistic art, technically and musically developed to freely respond to every demand of the talented young artist, who graciously responded to the insistent demands of the audience and played several "encores" with that charm of manner which makes her playing a real joy.

The "Mamarts Musical," by Schubert, the Mendelssohn, MacDowell and Chopin numbers were all presented with authority, true musical value and with the added appeal of personal interpretation.

Mr. Grieves plays with all the poise and distinction of the routine concert virtuoso and is equally delightful in either the serious or the lighter numbers which he selected with commendable skill, to contribute to the pleasure of this occasion.

Mr. Phillips' Singing.
Mr. Phillips has a voice of most unusual power and unfailing beauty, clear, resonant, and so well controlled that every variety of tone color is constantly at his command. He was warmly received by the audience and truly merited the ovation which he was accorded.

The morning session was begun at 9:30 o'clock with a paper by Rosette G. Cole of Chicago. Mr. Cole took as his subject "Modern Harmony," elaborating his theme from the works of such composers as Wagner, Strauss, Reger and Schoenberg. Mrs. Dudley Chase Chaffee of Peoria Musical college followed with the theme "What shall be the dimensions of the foundation?" She spoke of the problems of the primary music teacher, emphasizing the need for a foundation which is at once solid and inclusive. She handled her theme from the four-fold standpoint of form, melody, rhythm, and technique. The third paper was presented by Lawrence Erb, director of the university school of music at Urbana. In "The training of the teacher," Mr. Erb dwelt upon the necessity of a thorough education. The successful teacher of music, said he, should have at least a high school education and as much more as is possible.

The New Officers.
The report of the nominating committee was prepared Wednesday night and Thursday was posted for consideration of the delegates. The officers suggested are:
President—Franklin L. Stead, Peoria.
Vice president—Mrs. W. C. Paisley, Ottawa.
Secretary-treasurer—Herbert O. Merry, Lincoln.

The report of the committee will be confirmed or modified at the annual business meeting today at noon, at which time decision will be made as to the place of next year's meeting. Committees are announced as follows:

Program—John Doane, Evanston, and John Winter Thompson, Galesburg.

Auditing—C. R. Skinner Bloomington; R. P. Schifferstein, Newton, and Henry V. Stearns.

The Sympathy Concerts.
The Minneapolis Symphony orchestra which is to offer the programs this afternoon and evening enjoys the distinction of having the most loyal and enthusiastic following in its own city which any orchestra supported in America can boast. Created by the energy and the exceptional talents of its conductor, Emil Oberholfer, it has been sustained as a civic asset by public spirited citizens of Minneapolis who send it each year to New York, Boston and other eastern centers there to advertise the love of music which animates the city of its home.

These eastern tours have proved costly nor do the less ambitious journeys such as now engage the efforts of the orchestra add to the profits of the organization. Indeed there are no profits. This year the losses occasioned not alone by the tours but by the very grave expense incident upon the engagement of the best players obtainable, amounted to $60,000. But they were paid cheerfully.

This afternoon Mr. Oberholfer's organization will be assisted by Mrs. Fannie Bloomfield Zeisler, famous American pianist, and Albert Lindquist, tenor. In the evening the soloists will be Jean Vincent Cooper, contralto, and Leon Sametini, violinist.

The program this forenoon will be featured by an interesting paper by Mrs. Constance Smith of Urbana, a former resident of Jacksonville and known here by a great number. Her topic will be "Music in the public schools, its limitations and possibilities." Papers of interest will be presented by Peter C. Lutkin, dean of university school of music at Evanston, and Kenneth Bradley, director of Bush Conservatory of Music of Chicago.

THE COUNTRY ROADS.
J. S. Green made a trip in his Fullman automobile eastward yesterday morning going to Alexander. He says he found the roads in much better condition than he expected and was not obliged to wash his car after returning. Persons from other parts of the county give a less favorable account of the condition of the highways but agree that with sun and wind the traveling will soon be good. The recent rains did little or nothing to retard spring work which is going ahead at a rapid rate. Speaking of the roads; if the commissioners having in charge the roads south of the insane hospital to Big Sandy, or the first half or two thirds of it, would do a bit of dragging they would confer a favor on a good many visitors to the city.

F. L. Sharpe has been asked to serve as a grand marshal at the reunion and grand lodge session of Elks which will be held in Baltimore, Md., in June. This gathering usually brings together about 30,000 members of the order and the parade is a very important feature. The honor to Mr. Sharpe is well deserved, as he has long been an enthusiastic member of the order.

PRELIMINARY PLAN FOR NATIONAL HIGHWAY PROPOSED

Bill Introduced in Congress Provides For Investigation and Report on Roads Question.

Washington, May 4.—Provisions for an investigation and report to Congress of a preliminary plan for a system of national highways by the Corps of Engineers of the army is made in a joint bill now pending before the Senate and House Committees on Military Affairs. The bill was introduced in the Senate by Senator John A. Shields of Tennessee and in the House by Representative John A. Small of North Carolina.

In particular this bill embodies the principle of having conducted a scientific investigation and survey of the highway routes upon which federal funds are to be expended before the work of construction is begun. It seeks, it is said, to prevent the hit or miss building of roads by the Federal government which are located, not by expert surveys, but by local political influence. Roads which began anywhere within a state and end nowhere in particular. The danger of having federal funds for good roads expended in such fashion has already caused the dangerous cry of "pork" to be raised in Congress when the good roads appropriation bills were under discussion.

Shields-Small Bill

Under the terms of the Shields-Small bill, the Federal Government would devote its funds and energies solely to the construction of main or trunk-line highway units connecting and correlating to highway systems within the states. Instead of providing funds to pay a part of the state's bills on state roads, the Federal government would take over, to build and maintain entirely, certain of the principal highways. That would relieve the states of a considerable part of their present burden and would allow them to devote more money to the building of more miles of good roads radiating from the federal highways. Counties would then build good roads radiating from the state highways, while townships or individuals would build good roads feeding the county highways. Thus the entire country would be woven together by a network of highways each system feeding the other, as is done by the railways.

The Shields-Small bill was drawn by Cyrus Kehr of Knoxville Tenn., a member of the National Highways Association, in co-operation with Senator Shields, Representative Small, and engineer officers on duty at the war department. It has been approved by the war department. While the bill embodies two of the principles for which the National Highways Association has contended in its Good Roads campaign, it is not particularly supported by the Association which thus far has lent its support to principles only and not to any particular piece of legislation.

A Preliminary Plan

That this effort to have Congress provide a preliminary highway plan prepared according to recognized principles of engineering and to provide for federal interstate highways before federal funds are spent marks the trend of sentiment upon this subject here is indicated in the debates upon Good Roads measures which have recently occurred in Congress. In the debate upon the Bankhead bill, Senator George W. Norris, of Nebraska said:

"I think the contribution of the Federal government ought not to go to all of the roads in the country. It ought to be confined to a system of interstate highways."

The idea of restricting the federal participation in highway construction to a system of main interstate trunk-lines to be located by an expert survey is now supported by the representatives of many states and many congressional districts. The opinion is growing that in this way such federal funds as are devoted to good roads construction will be put toward a definite object, the highest economic results will be realized and the movement will be saved from condemnation by the public on the ground that it is "pork" legislation.

ROUTT SCHOOL CLOSES SUCCESSFUL YEAR'S WORK

Program for Last Interesting to Parents and Children—Miss Connelley Employed Again as Teacher.

Route school, south of the city, taught by Miss Elizabeth Connelley has closed for the summer vacation. For the last day of the term the school building was prettily decorated with flowers and flags and a very interesting program was carried out. At noon a picnic dinner was served near the reservoir and afterward several hours were spent very happily with boat riding, games and other forms of amusement. The day was one of such pleasure for the pupils and their parents that it constituted a fitting close for the year which has been one of successful work.

Miss Connelley's work with the school has been of very high order and she has been employed by the directors for the coming year, an announcement which was heard by pupils and patrons with pleasure and approval. An unusual feature of the day's program was the poem, "Seasons at Davis," written for the occasion by one of the pupils, John D. Costello, 12 years of age. It is given below:

Seasons at Davis.
At Davis in the springtime
Everything looks fine
When the dew is on the weeds and grass
And all the hardy vines,
We first harness up the horses,
Then we milk the cows
And after eating breakfast
We hustle out to plow.

In summer it is different,
For almost every night
We pay a visit to the pond
When the moon is shining bright
And then we get so nice and cool
After all the long days' heat,
For when we're not a plowing corn
We're harvesting the wheat.

In fall we're always busy
Chopping down the trees
And watching leaves go whirling by
Upon the gentle breeze.
Or sometimes hauling pumpkins
Or maybe cutting corn
And sometimes huling oats and hay
To put into the barn.

In winter it is pleasant
When everything is still,
To go skating round the pond,
Or sliding down the hill.
And when the snow is everywhere
The drifts they are so deep,
From every little bush and tree
You hear the snowbirds' cheep.

And then out in the shed, I pull
My pretty little sleigh
And drive all over the country round
My pretty little bay;
And times are Oh! so pleasant
At Davis there you know,
That I would rather stay there
Than any place to go.

THE ELUSIVE SPARROW.

According to the opinion of a Jacksonville man it will not be many years until farmers must unite in common movement to rid the country of English sparrows. The birds are multiplying with such great rapidity that they now constitute a menace to farm crops and the amount of grain they consume each year is considerable. This resident not long since secured a trap recommended by the government and now he is wondering how to get the birds into the trap. He placed it in his back yard and succeeded in catching brown thrushes, robins, blue birds and others that he immediately released, but the sparrow hopped all about the cage and then wisely flew to the neighboring trees.

MRS. COSGRIF RECEIVES LETTER FROM SISTER IN ENGLAND

Exceptional Family Record is Unfolded—Tells About War Conditions.

Mrs. Mary Cosgriff and daughter, Mrs. Kitty Koenig, have received a very interesting letter from the old world and Mrs. Cosgriff, who has been suffering with double pneumonia, is so cheered by the message that she is actually improving and hopes soon to be up.

Mrs. Cosgriff had a notable sister in the old country, Mrs. J. Donnell Owens, who was the mother of 25 children, eighteen sons and seven daughters. So remarkable was the record that the prolific mother recently received a pension from Queen Victoria. One of the sons, John Owens, served 21 years as a marine and was officer's body servant to the Prince of Wales, now King George. The letter referred to is from a niece of Mrs. Cosgriff, one of Mrs. Owens' daughters, who married a gentleman named Jackson.

44 Reading Road, Clapton Hackney N E London, My Dear Aunt.

I am quite sure you have been looking forward to receiving a letter from me and when your letter arrived I was in the hospital. The doctor says I shall come all right again. My husband is in France in the trenches and I am full of sadness. I am sending you a paper showing where my husband was inspected by the King and before he rejoined the army. (The paper mentioned contains a large picture showing the troops and heroes with medals marching in review before His Majesty and a cross indicates Mr. Jackson). I also send you an account of my brother and his two sons. All my brothers and sisters have sons serving in the army. It is terrible here. We never know from one night to another when we may have an air raid. We have had several close by. The last time we had one my husband was home on one night leave and he and I were nearly killed. We were leaving the station at the time and had to fly for our lives down the tube station. It was terrible and everything is so terrible; there are many things we can't get and it is likely to be worse.

I often wish I could wake up in the morning and find we were at peace and my husband was home again.

Your affectionate niece
Fr. Jackman.

Nephew of Mrs. Cosgriff

A newspaper clipping contains a picture of four persons, a man, his two sons, one grown and the other small, and his little daughter. Accompanying it is the following description:

"This is a deeply interesting group. The central figure—the little boy—is Bugler Bob Owens who is serving on H. M. S. 'Undaunted' which sank four German ships last Saturday. The picture also shows his elder brother, who is in the Royal Marines on H. M. S. Orama, an armored Orient liner, and his father, who, after serving 21 years in the Royal Marines during which time he performed the duties of officer's servant to King George, then Prince of Wales, is now stationed in Chatham for home defence. The remaining figure in the group is strictly non-combatant."

PARK BOARD VOTES

The park board met last evening in regular session.

A committee was appointed to see to planting some flower beds in Duncan park and to take steps toward beautifying and adorning the place as far as possible. The man in charge has cut the grass once. The trash and limbs have been gathered up and will be burned as soon as dry or will be hauled away.

The committee on playground at Nichols park reported progress. Considerable apparatus remains to be put in shape ready for use.

The C. and A. road is going ahead with the work in connection with the golf grounds. A small footbridge has been constructed across the lake by the railroad bridge and a cinder walk is to be made approaching it from either side and work on this improvement is in progress.

Several applications for custodian of the playground in the first ward were read but no action was taken.

The field day of the high school is to be May 23rd and a committee of the students waited on the board to obtain consent for the use of the park that day and it was granted.
